5 STATES SAID IT WAS WORST STORM SEEN IN 25 YEARS

GALE ACCOMPANIED BY HEAVY SNOW PILED IN MOUNTAIN DRIFTS

SNOW LEVEL WITH THE HOUSE-TOPS IN BEULAH, COLORADO

(By United Press)
Chicago, March 19.—The entire country from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast was in the grip of a terrific blizzard today.

Four persons were killed in Colorado as a result of the storm.

Crop damage to the Kansas potato crop and the Oklahoma peach crop will run into millions. Wire communication was paralyzed in many sections. Telephone and telegraph companies reported hundreds of miles of pole lines down.

Passenger service on the railroads was curtailed. Freight embargoes were placed in several sections.

Sub-zero temperatures were reported throughout the entire west. Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Wisconsin and Iowa advised declared the storm was the most severe in 25 years.

The gale was accompanied by a heavy snow swept into mountainous drifts by the wind.

Two passenger trains on the Chicago and Northwestern were reported stalled in the drifts near Boone and Ames, Iowa.

Three children of Allen Evans were found frozen to death in a shanty near Baxter, Colorado. Thomas Reed, merchant, died from exposure near Kutch, Colorado, when his truck was stalled in the drifting snow.

Snow was level with the housetops at Beulah, Colorado.

Fire added to the peril of the storm in Chicago and Omaha. Forty families including many which were forced to flee into the street scantily clad, when the flames destroyed a large apartment building here. Damage was estimated at $75,000.

More than $250,000 damage was done to a business block in the heart of the Omaha downtown section when fire broke out during the storm.

Chicago was threatened with a milk famine as dairymen found it impossible to bring their milk over impassable roads.

The storm swept out of the northwest causing temperatures to drop from twenty to fifty degrees in a few hours.

All railroads running into Chicago from the west reported service subject to long delays. Trains leaving Chicago for the west were pulled by two engines.

The flyers from Chicago to the east were cut in half to prevent delay.

Rockford, Illinois was practically isolated by the storm.

No trains have been operating over the Harbor Springs, Michigan branch of the Pennsylvania railroad for nearly a week. Teams carried the mail over Little Traverse Bay to Petoskey, Michigan.

Milwaukee traffic was snowbound by ten and twelve foot drifts. Temperatures which were the lowest of the winter were reported from many places.

The weather bureau predicted freezing weather in the southwest and Atlantic coast states today. The worst of the storm will pass within 48 hours, forecasters declared and will be followed by abnormally high temperatures.

PRINCESS HERMINE BRIDE OF FORMER KAISER, IN STORY

DENIES ALL CHATTER THAT SHE WAS TO LEAVE KAISER WILHELM

UNITED PRESS CORRESPONDENT GAINS INTERVIEWS ON HOME LIFE

(By United Press)
Editor.—The first exclusive interview granted by the Princess Hermine, bride of Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm since her marriage, has been secured by Ferdinand Jahn, United Press staff correspondent.

Following is the first of a series of three articles in which the princess largely in her own words definitely sets at rest world wide reports of differences between herself and the ex-emperor, describes the intimate family home life at Castle Doorn, talks on politics, and attacks former President Wilson. Information obtained by Jahn during his visit to the ex-kaiser's household at Doorn, definitely established the truth regarding reports of an impending interesting event in the Hohenzollern family.

By FERDINAND JAHN
(Copyright 1923 by the United Press, copyright in Canada)

Doorn, Holland, March 19.—The family life of the former German kaiser and kaiserin at Doorn castle is simple and happy.

The kaiserin—better known as the Princess Hermine—made that emphatically clear in an interview with the United Press.

The interview, which was given in the quaint castle that is the residence of the court chamberlain, is the first the princess has granted since her wedding.

She denied emphatically all the chatter that has spread world wide to the effect that she is leaving Wilhelm or going to Corfu. She made it plain that the ex-emperor and herself are pursuing in happiness and unity the simple life of studies, active folks here in this out of the way corner of the world.

The love of the princess for the former kaiser and the love and respect her children accord their new father was much in evidence during my visit.

Planning a forthcoming trip to Germany, the kaiserin said: "At the end of this month I am going on an eight weeks visit to Silesia."

"You can believe me it is hard for me to leave the emperor alone, but I am also a mother and the interests of my children demand my presence in Germany twice a year.

"These times naturally are chosen that they coincide in spring and autumn with the vacations of my oldest sons who are in school in Germany.

"Naturally, these journeys are previously arranged."

The princess received me in the court chamberlain's offices which lie back from a winding Doorn road in a setting reminiscent of an old Dutch painting or glimpse of scenery in an operetta.

In this room last November the princess was united in marriage to the former emperor by civil ceremony. The room's chief ornament is an enormous portrait of the ex-kaiser in the gorgeous apparel of the hussars, while on the writing table is a photograph of the ex-kaiser's first wife. Incidentally in other rooms of the castle there are many pictures of the dead empress. The princess greeted me pleasantly. My first impression was that she fairly beamed with health, energy and the joy of living. She was plainly dressed in a blue costume with seal jacket, small hat with a veil, dark cotton gloves, woolen stockings and she carried a cane. The three youngest of her children played about outside.

"My children quickly developed confidence in the kaiser and a liking for him," Hermine said.

"And for his part, he treats them with fatherly tenderness. When my oldest boys are here they help the emperor to chop wood. The emperor continues this occupation because since childhood he has been accustomed to plenty of exercise.

Wilhelm, she said "favors sawing and chopping wood a substitute for sports with which to preserve his physical activity.

He also likes to help about the park and the garden, Hermine added.

DEFENSE HAS ITS INNING, FOSTER CASE

(By United Press)
St. Joseph, Mich., March 19.—Prosecution witnesses in the trial of William Z. Foster, charged with violation of the Michigan syndicalist law, were inaccurate, inadequate and uninformed, Frank P. Walsh, chief counsel for the defense, declared today.

Walsh launched his assault on "stool pigeon methods of the state" in considering evidence as Maurice Wolff, federal agent, contained identification of radical literature seized in the raid at Bridgman last fall which resulted in the indictment of 76 men and women.

TO KEEP OIL MEN OUT OF CEMETERY

ARMED GUARDS PATROL LAST RESTING PLACE OF PIONEERS

(By United Press)
Ponca City, Oklahoma, March 19.—Armed guards patrolled the United Brethren cemetery here today to prevent oil men from desecrating the burial spot of 250 pioneers.

At the same time the district court here was called on to decide the issue between men's craving for oil and money and the sanctity of the dead.

The Knox oil company represented interests in using legal action for erecting derricks and digging oil in the cemetery—the heart of the famous Mid-Continental Tonkawa field.

The oil men claim they have a lease on the grave yard and are ready to begin operations as soon as the armed resistance can be overcome.

A community committee, relatives of the dead who are defending their claim with force maintained the lease of the oil people specifies the cemetery is hallowed ground.

FRENCH CATCH A GERMAN SUSPECTED OF BEING ASSASSIN

CLAIMED HE KILLED PRIVATE SCHMIDT OF ARMY OF OCCUPATION

(By United Press)
Dusseldorf, March 19.—The French caught today a German suspected of being the assassin of Private Schmidt, sentry of the army of occupation shot in the dark at the Essen station Saturday night.

If the suspect is convicted by court martial, he will be executed immediately. Three other Germans captured near the station shortly after the shot that killed the sentry had been fired, are being held. A fourth, shot while running away, died of wounds.

The shooting of Private Schmidt aroused bitterest resentment on the part of the French troops at Essen and elsewhere in the Ruhr, but from all reports the outbreak of reprisal that might have been a logical sequence did not occur.

BEGINNING OF END IN RUHR

Paris, March 19.—The beginning of the end in the Ruhr. That was what France has seen in a succession of unofficial German peace feelers, tentative reparations proposals and conferences of Ruhr industrialists, with members of the Berlin government.

Events that led up to the present situation—German resistance at the breaking point, the French see it—were first observed a week ago:

1.—Germany appealed secretly for British intervention.

2.—Great Britain declined to intervene and returned tentative reparations proposals with the suggestion that they be clarified.

3.—Three unofficial efforts were made from Berlin to get in touch with the French government on the subject, according to Paris reports.

4.—France rejected any suggestion that did not come publicly and officially.

5.—Germany turned to America.

6.—German ministers went to Hamm, just outside the occupied area, to confer with industrialists.

GOV. PREUS ANNOUNCES HIS VIGOROUS OPPOSITION TO THE PROPOSED MERGER OF NORTHWESTERN RAILROADS TODAY

(By United Press)
St. Paul, March 19.—Governor J. O. Preus today announced vigorous opposition to the proposed merger of northwest railroads.

The executive instructed Ivan Bowen, railroad and warehouse commissioner to oppose the merger at the open hearing by examiners of the Interstate Commerce Commission here today.

"I have considered the plan carefully and believe it would not work for the best interests of the Twin Cities," Governor Preus said.

"It is apparent that such consolidation will tend to make way stations of the Twin Cities. This is a situation the late James J. Hill always struggled against in his efforts to make the Twin Cities a terminal center. The effect of the proposed consolidation would make Chicago the terminal center."

The consolidations proposed would merge the Great Northern and St. Paul roads and the Northern Pacific and Burlington lines.

Official of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington favor making those three one great system.

A special session of the house will be held tomorrow night to dispose of fifty bills of local interest.

This action was decided upon to clear up a calendar which is now badly congested. A committee was appointed last week to pick out bills of local interest which will be disposed of tomorrow.

The house committee on state development today recommended for passage two bills which would combine the state immigration department and the land and lakes attraction board. The proposed combination would be known as the State Tourist and Immigration department.

Severe penalties for using automobiles in the commission of a crime are provided in bills recommended for passage by the house committee on crime prevention. A sentence of one to twenty years for using a stolen automobile is provided for, and one to five years where the criminal is the owner of the machine.

Nels T. Moon, chairman of the house crime prevention committee announced today he would ask that the two pending crime bills be brought before the house on special orders.

The bills have been in committee for some time. Representative Moon said he wanted action to insure their consideration before the end of the session.

40,000 N. Y. IRISH PARADE; GUARDED

THREATS OF "REPUBLICANS" BRING ST. PATRICK'S DAY PROTECTION

New York, March 19.—Forty thousand Irish paraded up Fifth avenue in honor of St. Patrick and in memory of the old country, while 2,500 police, many of them fellow countrymen, guarded them against possible attacks by "republicans" who had sent several threats.

There was almost no disorder. An occasional catcall or cry of "Long Live De Valera" was heard, but the imposing array of blue uniforms and brass buttons acted as a very effective damper for all would be demonstrators.

For almost 100 blocks or five miles the paraders, waving green flags and covered with paper shamrocks, gave the first definite sign of spring that New York has seen this year. The sun shone brightly on the brass buttons of the policemen, and numerous bands played the good old songs of Erin.

Everybody had a good time except for a few blisters, and the riots, demonstrations and clashes which had been predicted were far away—in Ireland. They are nonimportable.

UNCONFIRMED REPORT SAYS LENINE DIED

Berlin, March 19.—Reports that Premier Nikolai Lenine suffering from partial paralysis has sustained a critical nervous breakdown, were abundant here today following departure of Professor Strumpell, Drs. Bumke and Nonne, famous nerve specialists for Moscow. The physicians received urgent summons from the Russian government.

One report from Riga, which was unconfirmed, declared Lenine had died and that the news was suppressed. The fact that a Swedish brain specialist was reported to have received summons to Moscow lent weight to the rumors concerning the Russian premier's mental condition.

PREYED ON WOMEN, DRUGGED THEM AND TOOK THEIR JEWELS

MEMBER OF PHILADELPHIA AND NEW YORK UNDERWORLD SOUGHT BY POLICE

NEW YORK DISTRICT ATTORNEY SEEKING SLAYER OF DOROTHY KING

(By United Press)
New York, March 19.—A member of the Philadelphia and New York underworld who preyed upon women—drugged them and robbed them of their jewels—was hunted by police seeking the slayer of Dorothy King "White Light Butterfly" today.

Acting District Attorney Pecora declared that the same man is wanted in connection with other similar crimes, including theft of $30,000 worth of gems from a New York woman.

As the search for this suspect started, witnesses questioned by Pecora and Inspector Coughlin of the police, made statements that deepened the mystery of the killing.

John Thomas, elevator boy at Miss King's apartment house, denied the story of the mysterious "Mr. Marshall" millionaire, that the wealthy suitor of the girl went down the elevator of the apartment house upon leaving the apartment the night before she was found dead.

Thomas said he took Marshall to the apartment, but the latter did not return via his elevator.

"Marshall" told Pecora that he left by the elevator and that Miss King was in good spirits at the time.

Following Marshall's appearance at the district attorney's office, Pecora exonerated him from suspicion and described the millionaire as a "married, tired businessman who was a flyer in romance."

Marshall, Pecora said, admitted he had visited the butterfly about ten times in a year and he had given her about $10,000 worth of jewels.

The case was further entangled by police information that the slain girl shortly before her death visited the apartments of an admirer.

The body of Miss King also known as Klenan was removed from her mother's apartment to a cemetery yesterday. There were several large floral pieces untagged.

BALANCE TO GO ON TRAINS—NOVEL ADVERTISING AND SONGS

Early Monday morning and later in the afternoon the vanguard of the Brainerd Rotary club started on its pilgrimage to the district meeting to be held in St. Paul, Tuesday, March 20.

The first car out Monday morning piloted by John F. Woodhead, carried Mr. and Mrs. Woodhead, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Tanner and Mrs. Walter F. Wieland. In the afternoon F. W. Wieland of the Dispatch, and wife and Mrs. N. H. Ingersoll, and County Attorney Walter F. Wieland, (the latter being president of the Brainerd Rotary club,) followed in the former's car. Other cars are also expected to make the trip.

By train some twenty more Rotarians and their wives will follow on so that the whole Brainerd Rotarian delegation will number close to 50 people.

Rotarian Songs
Original songs voicing the advantages of Brainerd and this great lake region were set out in verse by R. G. Jenkins and each Rotarian is letter perfect in singing the same. The song leaders are A. C. Ebert and John F. Woodhead.

Dispatch presses were busy turning out original advertising matter to be flashed at the convention, advertising Brainerd and the lake region.

Dr. R. E. Belse, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zapffe and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gemmell left on the noon train for the convention.

UNCONFIRMED REPORT SAYS LENINE DIED

Berlin, March 19.—Reports that Premier Nikolai Lenine suffering from partial paralysis has sustained a critical nervous breakdown, were abundant here today following departure of Professor Struppel, Drs. Bumke and Nonne, famous nerve specialists for Moscow. The physicians received urgent summons from the Russian government.

One report from Riga, which was unconfirmed, declared Lenine had died and that the news was suppressed. The fact that a Swedish brain specialist was reported to have received summons to Moscow lent weight to the rumors concerning the Russian premier's mental condition.

Russian War Council Summoned
Helsingfors, March 19.—The Russian war council was summoned today to consider important questions in connection with Premier Lenine's illness, according to dispatches from Moscow.

Discredit Reports of Death
London, March 19.—The Russian trade delegation here in close touch with the Moscow government failed to receive on Sunday the customary bulletin regarding Premier Lenine's condition.

The delegation, however, discredited reports from Helsingfors that Lenine is worse or dead.

Hainlin-Baker

Announcements have been received in Brainerd of the marriage of Miss Dorothy J. Baker to Gene G. Hainlin at San Francisco, on January 22nd. Dr. Ezra Allen Van Nuys, of Calvary Presbyterian church, officiating.

The bride was attired in a gown of dark brown satin-backed canton crepe, with a large picture hat to match and wore brown suede slippers and mink furs. A corsage of violets, lilies of the valley and bridal roses completed the costume. The groom was dressed in conventional black.

Mrs. Hainlin is a former Brainerd girl, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Baker.

She grew to womanhood in this city attending the local high school, commercial college, and later, Valparaiso University.

Mr. Hainlin is a son of the West and one of San Francisco's most popular young commercial artists.

The newly-weds left on the ocean steamer "Gale" for points in southern California, visiting at Los Angeles, Pasadena, Hollywood, Sierra Madre, Long Beach and several noted beach resorts, returning by automobile following the ocean highway to San Francisco where they will make their home.

It is interesting to note that Dr. Van Nuys, who officiated at these nuptials, formerly a Chicago pastor, spoke in Brainerd a number of years ago at a Y. M. C. A. meeting.

The Dispatch joins the many friends of the happy couple in offering congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy married life.

"Potter's Field."

This is the name given to a piece of land usually adjoining a cemetery and reserved as a public burying place for the friendless poor, unknown persons and criminals. Most cities have such burial grounds. The name is derived from its use in the Bible as follows: "And they took counsel and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in."

The Reason.

"What made you admit the accident was all your fault? You know very well the other man was to blame." "I know he was, but when he got out of his car I saw he was twice as big as I."

MONS MAHLUM HEADS ASSN.

Representatives of 35 Yards Attended Meeting of Newly Organized District No. 14

NORTHWESTERN LUMBERMEN
Brainerd District Includes Crow Wing, Cass Aitkin and Parts of Morrison County

Mons Mahlum, president of the Mahlum Lumber Company, was chosen to head the newly organized District 14 of the Northwestern Lumbermen's Association, at their meeting, held in the Civic & Commerce Association rooms Friday afternoon.

The meeting, which was for the purpose of organizing the district, in which Brainerd is the center, was attended by representatives of 35 yards.

This Brainerd District will include Crow Wing, Cass Aitkin counties, Morrison county north of Little Falls and the territory west of Staples.

Three directors were named at the business session Friday afternoon, being T. B. Brusegaard, of the Lakeside Lumber Co., Brainerd, Neil Woodworth of Little Falls and Walter Knox of Aitkin. These men, with Mr. Mahlum as president, constitute the only officers of the district organization.

The object of dividing the parent association into districts is to give the members an opportunity of getting together more often and to dispose of problems and questions that affect them more than the large association, which covers a big territory and meets but once each year. The district organization will meet at least once in three months. The next meeting is scheduled for April 26th.

The meeting of Friday closed with a banquet at the Ransford hotel, at which the local lumber dealers were hosts to the visitors.

NEW DANCING SCHOOL

H. Hudson Field of New York, Assisted by Wife, to Open Same Monday

H. Hudson Field of New York, assisted by his wife will open a dancing school in this city. Mr. Field states he is a graduate of the Vernon and Irene Castle dancing school in 1917 and for the past five years has been doing professional dancing at the chain of Ambassador Hotels in this country and abroad.

It is his hope that the people of Brainerd will show the interest in the school which they profess to show, both young and old, in fact he says: "We teach them from nine to ninety"—and the cost of a complete course (12 lessons) is most reasonable.

Classes will be taken every Monday, Wednesday and Friday night from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock.

The school is in the Iron Exchange building on the third floor, the old Commercial College Rooms.

Opening night will be Monday March 19th.

During the day time either Mr. and Mrs. Field can be seen at the Ransford Annex Apartment No. 2, where they will cheerfully give information to those interested.

The heading over the Brainerd views was "Beautiful Brainerd."

It was a great surprise for the Brainerd sailor to see home in a strange place and also the very place where his father, P. V. Humphrey, was working.

EASTER MONDAY BALL

To be Given by Brainerd Fire Department at Elk's Hall, Music by Ristberg Orchestra

There are only two weeks left in the Lenten season, and already many are wondering what function will open the spring's social activities.

The Easter Monday ball, recognized as the first of these festivities, will be given as usual this year, and will be under the auspices of the Brainerd fire department. This information alone is enough to insure all who attend a very pleasant evening.

The ball will be given in Elk's hall, the music to be furnished by Ristberg's orchestra. This organization is preparing a special program of all the latest dance hits and expects to be in especially good trim to tickle the feet and lighten the hearts of the merry-makers.

Anything that the fire department puts on in Brainerd is a guarantee of that function's success, which is just another way of saying that this Easter ball will be one of the fine events of the coming season.

The public is asked to watch the Dispatch for further particulars concerning the ball, and to keep Easter Monday open of other engagements.

MONS MAHLUM HEADS ASSN.

Representatives of 35 Yards Attended Meeting of Newly Organized District No. 14

NORTHWESTERN LUMBERMEN
Brainerd District Includes Crow Wing, Cass Aitkin and Parts of Morrison County

Mons Mahlum, president of the Mahlum Lumber Company, was chosen to head the newly organized District 14 of the Northwestern Lumbermen's Association, at their meeting, held in the Civic & Commerce Association rooms Friday afternoon.

The meeting, which was for the purpose of organizing the district, in which Brainerd is the center, was attended by representatives of 35 yards.

This Brainerd District will include Crow Wing, Cass Aitkin counties, Morrison county north of Little Falls and the territory west of Staples.

Three directors were named at the business session Friday afternoon, being T. B. Brusegaard, of the Lakeside Lumber Co., Brainerd, Neil Woodworth of Little Falls and Walter Knox of Aitkin. These men, with Mr. Mahlum as president, constitute the only officers of the district organization.

The object of dividing the parent association into districts is to give the members an opportunity of getting together more often and to dispose of problems and questions that affect them more than the large association, which covers a big territory and meets but once each year. The district organization will meet at least once in three months. The next meeting is scheduled for April 26th.

The meeting of Friday closed with a banquet at the Ransford hotel, at which the local lumber dealers were hosts to the visitors.

NEW DANCING SCHOOL

H. Hudson Field of New York, Assisted by Wife, to Open Same Monday

H. Hudson Field of New York, assisted by his wife will open a dancing school in this city. Mr. Field states he is a graduate of the Vernon and Irene Castle dancing school in 1917 and for the past five years has been doing professional dancing at the chain of Ambassador Hotels in this country and abroad.

It is his hope that the people of Brainerd will show the interest in the school which they profess to show, both young and old, in fact he says: "We teach them from nine to ninety"—and the cost of a complete course (12 lessons) is most reasonable.

Classes will be taken every Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock.

The school is in the Iron Exchange building on the third floor, the old Commercial College Rooms.

Opening night will be Monday March 19th.

During the day time either Mr. and Mrs. Field can be seen at the Ransford Annex Apartment No. 2, where they will cheerfully give information to those interested.

LENT

THE real meaning of Lent is not seen by those who conclude that it demands the giving up of certain pleasures and has nothing to do with the attitude that is taken to individual and other relationships.

It is well that during this season of the year people should practice self-denial. To practice a certain discipline is good for character, but thinking in terms of negation will not win such splendid victories as acting positively and thinking constructively assure. The idea that underlies the giving up of certain pleasures has to do with the control of the body and its subjection to the will, so that it may be made subservient to man's higher interests. But the will that brings the body under control must itself be subject to the higher will that expresses itself in the steady march of events.

Lent is a season when men should consider to what extent their attitude to life is controlled by their sense of what the Supreme Will requires of them. It is a time in which the comfortable minority that fattens on the labor of the toiling majority may well pause to consider how they may assist in equalizing the standards of human life.

If men, during Lent, strive to attain a negative self-denial, and self-denial is negative, without at the same time struggling to relate themselves to the program of events that is willed by the Providence that shapes the world, in the end individual self-control may be secured without any sense of individual responsibility for the state of the world. Lent demands the subjection of the body, but the body is to be made subject, not for itself alone, but that it may be a better servant of the controlling personality that uses it as a medium of expression. And if it is to be used to the highest ends, the personality that controls it must express itself fully in life's relationships. Before this can be done it is necessary to attempt to see the wrongs that exist and that may be righted. To sense what is the destiny of men and to help men reach that destiny is part of the discipline of Lent.

Because this is true, men will seek to cast aside traditions that are clearly out of accord with what seems to them to be the right thing to do today. They refuse to stand in the way of the progress that promises a better social order. They will wish to see a gradual improvement in the lot of their brothers. Child labor will give them grave concern, and they will be willing to deny themselves of certain advantages if the community gains by their denial. They wish to bring the body-politic under the control of a will that looks to making it serve the will of men, just as the physical body is brought under the control of the will by fastings and self-denial.

Lent prepares the body for better service, and its meaning must embrace ever widening circles, until the body-politic, the social body, and the national body are controlled for service by the will that seeks the highest good of the world brotherhood.

ASKING FOR AND OFFERING MEDIATION

THE statement made by Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes will lead to a better understanding of the position that the government of the United States is taking to the vexed questions of Europe. It has been generally understood that European governments had requested this country to assist them in bringing order out of the present chaos over there, and it is well that the peoples at both sides of the Atlantic should be given to understand that no such request has been made of this government.

There has been a marked tendency at the other side of the Atlantic to blame America for adopting a policy of isolation. This condemnation of the attitude of the United States has been built on the understanding that this country had been asked by the European governments to take a hand in adjusting matters over there. The statement of the secretary of state will put this country in a better light and people will see that America has not acted as a mediator because America was not invited to serve in such a capacity.

Another result of the statement is likely to be of the nature of a demand from the people, that America's good services be asked for, with a view to solving some of the vexed questions. Despite the suggestion that is conveyed in some news dispatches, that this country is no longer highly thought of by the peoples of Europe, travelers who have returned say that the people of Europe are looking to America as the country that may free them from some of the burdens that are pressing so heavily upon them.

There are those in the United States who would wish the administration to offer to mediate before Europe has asked that this nation serve as a mediator, but the administration is undoubtedly right in waiting until it receives such a request before assuming the role of mediator. With matters as they are over there, the duty of mediator will not be any too pleasant. Conferences that have been held for the purpose of arriving at some unity of purpose and program have broken up in confusion and certain nations have gone ahead without respect for the decisions of other nations.

The United States has taken the proper attitude in refusing to wish this task of mediation upon herself, while standing ready at all times to lend assistance if invited to do so. The very fact that no such request has been made of the United States up to this time shows quite clearly that the governments have not been anxious to have our government offer its recommendations to the peoples of Europe. In time the voice of the peoples will be heard and that voice is likely to ask for America's intervention, and when Europeans ask for America's aid they will be more ready to listen to proposals that America may make. Mediation that is forced upon parties to a dispute is never so valuable as mediation that is invited by the disputants.

NOISELESS STREET CARS

MINNEAPOLIS is experimenting with bearings for street cars that may make them noiseless. Already the vice president of the Twin City Rapid Transit company believes that when the cars fitted with the new bearings are placed on the tracks, they will prove that Minneapolis has solved a problem that engineers have sought to solve in Germany, Sweden and other countries.

Noiseless street cars would be a boon to the people of our cities, upon whom the noise of the passing cars must be wearing. Those who live near the tracks are subjected to the continuous roar and clatter of cars. Society pays a high price for the conveniences that afford rapid transit, and the annoyances are many. The comfort of those who ride on the cars is secured at the cost of the comfort of those who are annoyed by their passing. Cities like Chicago are aroar when the wheels of the street cars and elevated trains are moving.

Those who can look back to the days before electricity was used to propel street cars, will appreciate the vast improvements that have been made through the years but, even these will conclude that, during more recent years, little has been done to obviate the annoyances that go with quickly moving street cars. That there is room for improvement is manifest, and that man's ingenuity can overcome many of the causes of annoyance is probable. It is therefore of interest to learn that a serious attempt is being made to apply engineering skill to the problem of providing a noiseless street car. If the experiment succeeds, one of the disadvantages of what is otherwise a distinct advantage, will be removed.

MOLLA, America's champion tennis player, could not successfully stand against the drive of the cyclonic French lady and Suzanne left the court with the championship.

SENATOR CARLEY's investigation is likely to be a flash in the pan. He concluded that things were wrong because somebody told him so.

There are now three candidates in the field for the office of municipal judge. Judge J. H. Warner was the first to circulate his petition. L. B. Kinder was the next to circulate his petition. The third in the field is Judge Gustav Halvorsen, who made his entry Saturday.

M. E. Morrison, it is said, will be a candidate for school board from the fifth ward.

Friends are endeavoring to have B. L. Lagerquist become a candidate for alderman of the first ward and B. E. Dunham of the fifth ward.

Claus A. Theorin has friends who are anxious to have him become a candidate for assessor.

Hugo Schwartzkopf, it is reported, will be a candidate for re-election as assessor.

wounded with bullets in his chest and abdomen. Edward McCarthy, a night worker in the steel mills here, admitted the shooting police said. McCarthy's wife Helen was found hysterical in the office with the two men when authorities arrived.

McCarthy told authorities he discovered young Hopkins with his wife alone in the office in one of the largest buildings in Joliet at 11 p. m.

"For some time I had suspected the friendship between Hopkins and my wife," McCarthy said. "Instead of going to work as usual, I watched the restaurant where my wife is employed.

She left about 1030 p. m. I saw her go to Hopkins' office. I saw the figures of my wife and Hopkins' silhouette through the heavy glass door.

"I knocked on the door and the lights were snapped out. Then I broke through the glass. Hopkins tried to get away, but I shot him and held my wife until the police arrived."

Mrs. McCarthy was held in jail as a witness. She refused to discuss the affair. No charges will be placed against McCarthy pending the outcome of Hopkins' wounds, which physicians stated may prove fatal.

LENT

THE real meaning of Lent is not seen by those who conclude that it demands the giving up of certain pleasures and has nothing to do with the attitude that is taken to individual and other relationships.

It is well that during this season of the year people should practice self-denial. To practice a certain discipline is good for character, but thinking in terms of negation will not win such splendid victories as acting positively and thinking constructively assure. The idea that underlies the giving up of certain pleasures has to do with the control of the body and its subjection to the will, so that it may be made subservient to man's higher interests. But the will that brings the body under control must itself be subject to the higher will that expresses itself in the steady march of events.

Lent is a season when men should consider to what extent their attitude to life is controlled by their sense of what the Supreme Will requires of them. It is a time in which the comfortable minority that fattens on the labor of the toiling majority may well pause to consider how they may assist in equalizing the standards of human life.

If men, during Lent, strive to attain a negative self-denial, and self-denial is negative, without at the same time struggling to relate themselves to the program of events that is willed by the Providence that shapes the world, in the end individual self-control may be secured without any sense of individual responsibility for the state of the world. Lent demands the subjection of the body, but the body is to be made subject, not for itself alone, but that it may be a better servant of the controlling personality that uses it as a medium of expression. And if it is to be used to the highest ends, the personality that controls it must express itself fully in life's relationships. Before this can be done it is necessary to attempt to see the wrongs that exist and that may be righted. To sense what is the destiny of men and to help men reach that destiny is part of the discipline of Lent.

Because this is true, men will seek to cast aside traditions that are clearly out of accord with what seems to them to be the right thing to do today. They refuse to stand in the way of the progress that promises a better social order. They will wish to see a gradual improvement in the lot of their brothers. Child labor will give them grave concern, and they will be willing to deny themselves of certain advantages if the community gains by their denial. They wish to bring the body-politic under the control of a will that looks to making it serve the will of men, just as the physical body is brought under the control of the will by fastings and self-denial.

Lent prepares the body for better service, and its meaning must embrace ever widening circles, until the body-politic, the social body, and the national body are controlled for service by the will that seeks the highest good of the world brotherhood.

ASKING FOR AND OFFERING MEDIATION

THE statement made by Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes will lead to a better understanding of the position that the government of the United States is taking to the vexed questions of Europe. It has been generally understood that European governments had requested this country to assist them in bringing order out of the present chaos over there, and it is well that the peoples at both sides of the Atlantic should be given to understand that no such request has been made of this government.

There has been a marked tendency at the other side of the Atlantic to blame America for adopting a policy of isolation. This condemnation of the attitude of the United States has been built on the understanding that this country had been asked by the European governments to take a hand in adjusting matters over there. The statement of the secretary of state will put this country in a better light and people will see that America has not acted as a mediator because America was not invited to serve in such a capacity.

Another result of the statement is likely to be of the nature of a demand from the people, that America's good services be asked for, with a view to solving some of the vexed questions. Despite the suggestion that is conveyed in some news dispatches, that this country is no longer highly thought of by the peoples of Europe, travelers who have returned say that the people of Europe are looking to America as the country that may free them from some of the burdens that are pressing so heavily upon them.

There are those in the United States who would wish the administration to offer to mediate before Europe has asked that this nation serve as a mediator, but the administration is undoubtedly right in waiting until it receives such a request before assuming the role of mediator. With matters as they are over there, the duty of mediator will not be any too pleasant. Conferences that have been held for the purpose of arriving at some unity of purpose and program have broken up in confusion and certain nations have gone ahead without respect for the decisions of other nations.

The United States has taken the proper attitude in refusing to wish this task of mediation upon herself, while standing ready at all times to lend assistance if invited to do so. The very fact that no such request has been made of the United States up to this time shows quite clearly that the governments have not been anxious to have our government offer its recommendations to the peoples of Europe. In time the voice of the peoples will be heard and that voice is likely to ask for America's intervention, and when Europeans ask for America's aid they will be more ready to listen to proposals that America may make. Mediation that is forced upon parties to a dispute is never so valuable as mediation that is invited by the disputants.

NOISELESS STREET CARS

MINNEAPOLIS is experimenting with bearings for street cars that may make them noiseless. Already the vice president of the Twin City Rapid Transit company believes that when the cars fitted with the new bearings are placed on the tracks, they will prove that Minneapolis has solved a problem that engineers have sought to solve in Germany, Sweden and other countries.

Noiseless street cars would be a boon to the people of our cities, upon whom the noise of the passing cars must be wearing. Those who live near the tracks are subjected to the continuous roar and clatter of cars. Society pays a high price for the conveniences that afford rapid transit, and the annoyances are many. The comfort of those who ride on the cars is secured at the cost of the comfort of those who are annoyed by their passing. Cities like Chicago are aroar when the wheels of the street cars and elevated trains are moving.

Those who can look back to the days before electricity was used to propel street cars, will appreciate the vast improvements that have been made through the years but, even these will conclude that, during more recent years, little has been done to obviate the annoyances that go with quickly moving street cars. That there is room for improvement is manifest, and that man's ingenuity can overcome many of the causes of annoyance is probable. It is therefore of interest to learn that a serious attempt is being made to apply engineering skill to the problem of providing a noiseless street car. If the experiment succeeds, one of the disadvantages of what is otherwise a distinct advantage, will be removed.

MOLLA, America's champion tennis player, could not successfully stand against the drive of the cyclonic French lady and Suzanne left the court with the championship.

SENATOR CARLEY's investigation is likely to be a flash in the pan. He concluded that things were wrong because somebody told him so.

PRESIDENT HARDING has gone bass fishing and many of his supporters are looking to the time when they can do the same in northern waters.

GERMANY is offering to pay up if France will get out of the Ruhr. But France is likely to ask for security, and who will go bond?

FIELD MARSHALL VON HINDENBURG is running true to form and wants the Germans to fight again.

Sportsman's Point of View.

Two brothers, five and six years old, were at the seashore and spent most of the time fishing. One noon they were astonished to see the maid bring in heaping soup plates of steamed clams. The older one turning to his brother, exclaimed in astonishment, "Say, have we got to eat this perfectly good bait?"—Youth's Companion.

Bad Light, Dangerous.

In Philadelphia there are more people killed yearly as a result of bad lighting than there are from automobile accidents. In homes and streets where the lighting is bad people fall frequently, in many cases receiving fatal injuries. The hazard of bad lighting was ascertained by figures a leading insurance company compiled.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome tasks of gathering the sage and mussy mixings at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Adv.

Clerk Locked in Vault, Deaf and Dumb When Rescued

Chas. Di Giacomu, a clerk in the People's Trust Co. of Paterson, N. J., was accidentally imprisoned in the vault. The time lock was fixed for the next morning. The vault is air tight so the situation was desperate. Pneumatic drill operators penetrated by drilling sufficiently to pass a small air hole to the imprisoned man. Giacomu's physicians believe he will recover his power of speech, and his hearing has already improved.

"Bought and Paid For" Wins

William de Mille's splendid Paramount picture production, "Bought and Paid For," a picturization of George Broadhurst's stage success, featuring Agnes Ayres and Jack Holt, popular Paramount stars, won its way to popular favor on its presentation at the Lyceum theatre yesterday.

The picture is a literal translation of the original stage play, but in screen form it is even more vivid and impressive. It was adapted by Clara Beranger, and every scene shows the artistry of William de Mille the producer and of the players under his direction. He has brought the play to the screen without losing any of its big moments while at the same time giving them a pictorial value which they lacked on the stage.

Miss Ayres is delightfully cast as Virginia. It is showing for the last time tonight.

New Scotch Picture Coming

One need not be a Scot to enjoy "The Bonnie Brier Bush," the latest Paramount picture produced in England which will be the feature at the Lyceum theatre Tuesday only. The story based on Ian MacLaren's famous novel, "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush," is one of universal appeal and representatives of every civilized nation will find it sweet and wholesome. Donald Crisp, the producer, plays the important role of the stern, rigid elder of the "kirk" whose sternness all but provokes a tragedy in his own home. Mary Glynn, popular with American motion picture fans, has the part of Flora, his daughter. The cast is one of unusual excellence and includes many stars.

YOU'LL BE OLD YOURSELF

Houston Chronicle
Not enough respect is paid to old age.

We are not kind enough, not tolerant enough with the weak and infirm.

We are annoyed at the slow moving person who checks our speed when we get on or off a car or train.

We are exasperated when an elderly person holds us up at the ticket window because failing eyesight makes counting change a slow process.

We are displeased when a middle-aged or older person sitting in a seat with us moves about frequently because one position soon tires him.

The discourteous treatment given elderly people by the majority of persons is surprising and distressing.

We are all going toward that age when younger generations will have as much cause to be annoyed by our actions as we have to be annoyed by the actions of old people today.

Perhaps they have but few more years to live and why should not those who are of younger years make the time as happy and comfortable as possible.

Things We Have Always Known

The recent business condition has brought to the forefront of thought many fundamental considerations that have always been known but have been damned with faint praise.

Human nature in the mass is very much like human nature in the individual. One of its dominant characteristics has been summed up in the observation, "You never miss the water till the well runs dry." We never appreciate fundamental things until we have occasion to do without them.

This observation has a special application to the Demand of the public for the products of industry. While the Demand was at high tide and everybody was busy trying to supply that Demand at a profit no one, seemingly, gave thought to where the Demand came from, how long it might last, or what would happen if it should fail. We merely assumed the permanent existence of the Demand, just as we assume the presence of water, air, and fire.

But a day came when Demand began to subside, and in many industries it came almost to a full stop. And then we missed it, and realized, as never before, what an important thing it was. And we began to inquire where it came from in the first place, and how it might be restored.

We always knew—everybody knew—that Desire for things made a Demand for them in the market. That people desired things we accepted as an elemental fact. But when we discovered that Desire fluctuated we began to appreciate that Desire, as we know it, is a thing created by the art of man. It is a highly specialized form of an elemental need—just as a Louis XVI chair is made out of a tree.

This discovery led to another equally important discovery that the means of refining and specializing that Desire was Advertising. The gigantic work that has been accomplished by modern advertising now stands out in bold relief. It has been the means by which the refinements of civilization have been made known and made desirable, and this desire has been made into Demand. It is a simple fact that a million profitable forms of industrial activity owe their very existence to the fact that Advertising upheld the standards of living which in turn provided the demand for their products.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." COUNCIL REVOKES DANCE LICENSE

Special Meeting of City Council
Takes Action on Permit Issued
To Walter Mlinar

BECAUSE OF ORCHESTRA HIRED
Letter From Mayor Frank E. Little Read Stating His Reasons for Asking Revocation

At a special meeting of the city council called at 6:15 Saturday night, the license, issued to Walter Mlinar, for a dance to be given at Gardner's auditorium on St. Patrick's night, was revoked, because of the fact that Schuck's orchestra, a colored troupe with headquarters at Bemidji, had been engaged.

The aldermen present at the meeting were Messrs Michael, Lyonsais, Anderson, Brusegaard, Witham and Strickler, absent, Messrs Cameron, Noggle Holmstrom and Quanstrom. A number of ladies, representing different organizations were also in attendance, and included Mrs. W. C. Cobb, Mrs. Grace Williams and Mrs. Henry L. Cohen from the League of Women Voters; Miss Mary Walsh and Miss Islay McCall from the Business and Professional Women's Club; and Miss Newman from the Child Welfare Board.

A letter from the mayor was read in which was set forth the reason for wishing to revoke this particular license. The letter stated that the issue was a purely moral one, that if any other orchestra had been engaged no question would have been raised, but on several occasions Schuck's orchestra had been refused a license, and it was felt that the same view of the matter should be taken in this instance.

Mrs. E. T. Fleener, city clerk, stated that when she took office, about a year ago, that Mayor Little had informed her that the conduct of the Schuck's orchestra was such that she should, under no circumstances, grant a license when they were either directly or indirectly concerned. Mrs. Fleener referred to notations made on the stubs of her license book denoting that trouble had been experienced with this orchestra previous to a dance given by them on March 10th, 1922.

Mr. Mlinar was given an opportunity to speak and presented his side of the case, stating that he only employed this orchestra after failing to secure another. He said that he was uninformed as to the standing of the Schuck's organization with the city administration.

Mrs. W. C. Cobb, speaking for the ladies present and the different bodies represented, asked that the license in this case be revoked.

In the discussion that followed Mayor Little stated that he had informed Schuck's orchestra that under no circumstances would he permit them to play in Brainerd. He gave them this ultimatum, he said, last summer when they sought to make an engagement in the city. It was also stated that several other cities in the state had barred this orchestra.

A motion was made by Alderman Anderson, seconded by Alderman Michael, that the certain license granted to Walter Mlinar for the purpose of holding a public dance in the city of Brainerd on the night of March 17th, 1923 be and hereby is annulled, and that the city clerk notify the said Walter Mlinar of this action and return to him any money paid at the time of making application for said license.

This motion was put to a vote and all members of the council present voted in its favor.

In supporting the motion, Alderman Michael said: "Students of municipal government agree that under the Federal plan of the city government such as ours, that the best results are obtained when the mayor and the city council work as a unit. In this instance the mayor asks our co-operation in his efforts to secure better conditions at public dances. His judgment is that the best interests of the city demand the revoking of this license and I cannot see how the council can do otherwise than to support him as he suggests. If we refuse, we accept the responsibility and render his efforts useless."

George Gardner, speaking for Mr. Mlinar after the meeting, is said to have stated that the present Schuck's orchestra is a new organization, only one year in it having been a member of the old orchestra that was banned from giving dances in the city.

Mr. Gardner also is quoted as saying that in the future, private dances will be given under the auspices of some organization in his hall, for which no license will be necessary.

The orchestra began playing in the hall at the time the dance was to have started on Saturday night, but were stopped by the police and warned against opening the dance. No dancers were on the floor while the orchestra was playing, it is said.

Resolutions Adopted

Whereas the character and conduct of certain musicians, and others, who had been conducting public dances in the city of Brainerd had been such that in February 1922 the city council of the city of Brainerd saw fit to pass an ordinance for the regulation of public dances, and

Whereas certain individuals have repeatedly sought, directly and indirectly, to nullify said ordinance by contemning its provisions and have used every means at their disposal, except an open violation of the ordinance, to carry out their wishes in the matter of public dances, and

Whereas the city council and the mayor of the city had the support of all organizations interested in the safeguarding of the morals of the youth, in the passage and enforcement of said ordinance, and

Whereas the latest attempt on the part of these individuals to defy the provisions of said ordinance was done under cover of certain employees of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, and have thereby attempted to create a false issue in which it might be made to appear that those supporting Mayor Little and the city council are opposed to fair play and certain inalienable rights being extended to said employees of the company;

Therefore be it hereby resolved that the Ministerial Association, in regular session this 19th day of March, 1923, hereby expresses its approval of the action of the council in revoking a license obtained by one Walter Mlinar for the purpose of holding and conducting a public dance on the evening of the 17th of March, and

Be it further Resolved that this association respectfully requests the officials of the Northern Pacific Railroad not to permit themselves to become participants in an issue which is plainly between those who are interested in the betterment of moral conditions in the city of Brainerd and those who have in various ways expressed their intention of flouting any restraints that may be placed upon public conduct of the citizens; and

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the City Council, the Supt. of this division of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and the President of the Company, when signed by the president and the secretary of this association.

BURKE HOME IS DESTROYED

Smaller Blazes at Fullerton, Schandel and Cummins' Homes in City

The colder weather of Saturday and Sunday was responsible for a number of fires, the department answering three calls on Saturday evening and one Sunday morning.

The home of Mrs. Patrick Burke, near the city limits burned to the ground, the fire being caused from a defective chimney, it is stated. Most of the furniture downstairs was saved. The firemen worked under difficulties, in that there is no water protection where this house was located.

Later Saturday evening, a small blaze was extinguished at the garage of D. K. Fullerton on North Ninth street, and another, a chimney fire at the home of Fred Schandel, corner of Seventh and Washington, N. E. Very little damage was done in either case.

On Sunday morning at ten o'clock the department was called to the home of John Cummins 716 S. Sixth street, where a fire in the basement caused considerable damage to that part of the house. It was checked, however, before it spread to other sections of the building. An overheated furnace was responsible for the blaze.

MRS. J. A. WILSON DIED SUDDENLY

STRICKEN WITH HEART TROUBLE
Leaves Husband, Two Daughters and
Two Sons, Was Member Congregational Church

Mrs. J. A. Wilson, one of Brainerd's pioneer women, wife of Prof. Wilson, died very suddenly at her home, 512 North Fourth Street, at 11:15 Sunday evening. She had been feeling very well all day, and had been about her duties. In the evening she entertained her son H. J. Wilson and family until ten o'clock.

With Mr. Wilson, she retired an hour later, and was stricken with heart trouble, dying almost instantly. Dr. Gerber was called and three trained nurses were at her bedside, hurriedly summoned by her husband, but death came before medical aid could be administered.

Anna Thompson was born on April 6th, 1852 in Northern Richland county, Ohio. She had the usual opportunity of six or seven months per year in the district schools, then three years in Savinah Academy.

Later she taught a number of terms in rural schools, then in the primary department of the village schools of Shiloh, Ohio, where she met Mr. Wilson, to whom she was married July 16th, 1877.

The family moved to Brainerd in August, 1884, and have continued to reside in the city up to the present time, a period of thirty-nine years.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Wilson is survived by two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Anna Belle Hense, of Port Angeles, Washington, Mrs. Julia McMahon, 801 Holly St., Brainerd, Dean Wilson, of San Francisco, and Harry J. Wilson of this city. One son, Charles Jason, died in 1885 at the age of four years.

Mrs. Wilson was a very active woman all her life, and was in the service of others until a few minutes before her death. She greatly delighted in the work of the Ladies Aid of the First Congregational church of which she was an ardent member. Originally she had been a member of the Women's Relief Corps and was a charter member of Alpha Chapter, O. E. S., but had discontinued her connections in both these orders.

Her loss will be keenly felt by her family and her many friends, for whom she was always working. The sincere sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved in their hour of trouble.

No definite funeral arrangements have as yet been made, pending word from her children residing in the West, but will be announced later in these columns. The services will be held from the First Congregational church and interment made in Evergreen cemetery.

Postpone Entertainment

Owing to the sudden death of Mrs. J. A. Wilson the entertainment to be given by the Congregational Bible school on March 22 will be postponed until after the Easter sale. It will be announced later.

The Concordia society of the Bethlehem Lutheran church will meet tonight, entertained by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Anderson. Everybody cordially welcome. The following program will be rendered:

Cohen from the League of Women Voters; Miss Mary Walsh and Miss Islay McCall from the Business and Professional Women's Club, and Miss Newman of the Child Welfare Board.

A letter from the mayor was read in which was set forth the reason for wishing to revoke this particular license. The letter stated that the issue was a purely moral one, that if any other orchestra had been engaged no question would have been raised, but on several occasions Schuck's orchestra had been refused a license, and it was felt that the same view of the matter should be taken in this instance.

Mrs. E. T. Fleenor, city clerk, stated that when she took office, about a year ago, that Mayor Little had informed her that the conduct of the Schuck's orchestra was such that she should, under no circumstances, grant a license when they were either directly or indirectly concerned. Mrs. Fleenor referred to notations made on the stubs of her license book denoting that trouble had been experienced with this orchestra previous to a dance given by them on March 10th, 1922.

Mr. Mlinar was given an opportunity to speak and presented his side of the case, stating that he only employed this orchestra after failing to secure another. He said that he was uninformed as to the standing of the Schuck's organization with the city administration.

Mrs. W. C. Cobb, speaking for the ladies present and the different bodies represented, asked that the license in this case be revoked.

In the discussion that followed, Mayor Little stated that he had informed Schuck's orchestra that under no circumstances would he permit them to play in Brainerd. He gave them this ultimatum, he said, last summer when they sought to make an engagement in the city. It was also stated that several other cities in the state had barred this orchestra.

A motion was made by Alderman Anderson, seconded by Alderman Michael, that the certain license granted to Walter Mlinar for the purpose of holding a public dance in the city of Brainerd on the night of March 17th, 1923 be and hereby is annulled, and that the city clerk notify the said Walter Mlinar of this action and return to him any money paid at the time of making application for said license.

This motion was put to a vote and all members of the council present voted in its favor.

In supporting the motion, Alderman Michael said: "Students of municipal government agree that the best results are obtained when the mayor and the city council work as a unit. In this instance the mayor asks our co-operation in his efforts to secure better conditions at public dances. His judgment is that the best interests of the city demand the revoking of this license and I cannot see how the council can do otherwise than to support him as he suggests. If we refuse, we accept the responsibility and render his efforts useless."

George Gardner, speaking for Mr. Mlinar after the meeting, is said to have stated that the present Schuck's orchestra is a new organization, only one player in it having been a member of the old orchestra that was banned from giving dances in the city.

Mr. Gardner also is quoted as saying that in the future, private dances will be given under the auspices of some organization in his hall, for which no license will be necessary.

The orchestra began playing in the hall at the time the dance was to have started on Saturday night, but were stopped by the police and warned against opening the dance. No dancers were on the floor while the orchestra was playing, it is said.

Resolutions Adopted

Whereas the character and conduct of certain musicians, and others, who had been conducting public dances in the city of Brainerd had been such that in February 1922 the city council of the city of Brainerd saw fit to pass an ordinance for the regulation of public dances, and

Whereas certain individuals have repeatedly sought, directly and indirectly, to nullify said ordinance by contending its provisions and have used every means at their disposal, except an open violation of the ordinance, to carry out their wishes in the matter of public dances, and

Whereas the city council and the mayor of the city had the support of all organizations interested in the safeguarding of the morals of the youth, in the passage and enforcement of said ordinance, and

Whereas the latest attempt on the part of these individuals to defy the provisions of said ordinance was done under cover of certain employees of the Northern Pacific Railway Company, and have thereby attempted to create a false issue in which it might be made to appear that those supporting Mayor Little and the city council are opposed to fair play and certain inalienable rights being extended to said employees of the company;

Therefore be it hereby resolved that the Ministerial Association, in regular session this 19th day of March, 1923, hereby expresses its approval of the action of the council in revoking a license obtained by one Walter Mlinar for the purpose of holding and conducting a public dance on the evening of the 17th of March, and

Be it further resolved that this association respectfully requests the officials of the Northern Pacific Railroad not to permit themselves to become participants in an issue which is plainly between those who are interested in the betterment of moral conditions in the city of Brainerd and those who have in various ways expressed their intention of flouting any restraints that may be placed upon public conduct of the citizens, and

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the City Council, the Supt. of this Division of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and the President of the Company, when signed by the president and the secretary of this association.

BURKE HOME IS DESTROYED

Smaller Blazes at Fullerton, Schandel and Cummins' Homes in City

The colder weather of Saturday and Sunday was responsible for a number of fires, the department answering three calls on Saturday evening and one Sunday morning.

The home of Mrs. Patrick Burke, near the city limits burned to the ground, the fire being caused from a defective chimney, it is stated. Most of the furniture downstairs was saved. The firemen worked under difficulties, in that there is no water protection where this house was located.

Later Saturday evening, a small blaze was extinguished at the garage of D. K. Fullerton on North Ninth street, and another, a chimney fire at the home of Fred Schandel, corner of Seventh and Washington, N. E. Very little damage was done in either case.

On Sunday morning at ten o'clock the department was called to the home of John Cummins 716 S. Sixth street, where a fire in the basement caused considerable damage to that part of the house. It was checked, however, before it spread to other sections of the building. An overheated furnace was responsible for the blaze.

MRS. J. A. WILSON DIED SUDDENLY

Was Wife of Prof. Wilson and One of Brainerd's Honored Pioneer Women

STRICKEN WITH HEART TROUBLE

Leaves Husband, Two Daughters and
Two Sons. Was Member Congregational Church

Mrs. J. A. Wilson, one of Brainerd's pioneer women, wife of Prof. Wilson, died very suddenly at her home, 512 North Fourth Street, at 11:15 Sunday evening. She had been feeling very well all day, and had been about her duties. In the evening she entertained her son H. J. Wilson and family until ten o'clock.

With Mr. Wilson, she retired an hour later, and was stricken with heart trouble, dying almost instantly. Dr. Gerber was called and three trained nurses were at her bedside, hurriedly summoned by her husband, but death came before medical aid could be administered.

Anna Thompson was born on April 6th, 1852 in Northern Richland county, Ohio. She had the usual opportunity of six or seven months per year in the district schools, then three years in Savannah Academy.

Later she taught a number of terms in rural schools, then in the primary department of the village schools of Shiloh, Ohio, where she met Mr. Wilson, to whom she was married July 16th, 1877.

The family moved to Brainerd in August, 1884, and have continued to reside in the city up to the present time, a period of thirty-nine years.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Wilson is survived by two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Anna Belle Hense, of Port Angeles, Washington, Mrs. Julia McMahon, 801 Holly St., Brainerd, Dean Wilson, of San Francisco, and Harry J. Wilson of this city. One son, Charles Jason, died in 1885 at the age of four years.

Mrs. Wilson was a very active woman all her life, and was in the service of others until a few minutes before her death. She greatly delighted in the work of the Ladies Aid of the First Congregational church of which she was an ardent member. Originally she had been a member of the Women's Relief Corps and was a charter member of Alpha Chapter, O. E. S., but had discontinued her connections in both these orders.

Her loss will be keenly felt by her family and her many friends, for whom she was always working. The sincere sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved in their hour of trouble.

No definite funeral arrangements have as yet been made, pending word from her children residing in the West, but will be announced later in these columns. The services will be held from the First Congregational church and interment made in Evergreen cemetery.

Postpone Entertainment

Owing to the sudden death of Mrs. J. A. Wilson the entertainment to be given by the Congregational Bible school on March 22 will be postponed until after the Easter sale. It will be announced later.

NO CHANCE FOR ROOKIES IN NEW YORK

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, March 19.—When young Johnny Mitchell was with the New York Yankees they used to say he had the easiest job in baseball.

He was substituting for Deacon Scott, the star shortstop of the club and the Deacon has been on the job every day in more than 1,000 games.

It was an easy job to earn money, but it was a tough assignment to get any place and Mitchell finally had to be traded to the Boston Red Sox to get a chance.

For two years he sat on the bench and two years are a lot to lose.

Every rookie in the country wants to get on one of the New York clubs and no rookie in the country has a chance when they do land with the Giants or the Yanks.

Miller Huggins, manager of the Yanks, has a characteristic aversion to young players. His notions about ball players can be gathered from the fact that he paid Frank Baker $10,000 for sitting on the bench last season and he wants him back again this season.

While John McGraw has turned lately to grabbing his stars in the "ready to wear" market, he has developed a lot of young ball players and it may be that prosperity and success are reducing the thrills and the ambition for any fame that he could get out of making youngsters.

The Giants at present are almost an all-star team. With the exception of the pitching staff there isn't a vacancy on the club for a youngster to shoot at.

Some Cabb the second, another Frisch or Eddie Collins might come along and get a place on the regular nine, but they come once in twenty years and they would have to come awfully strong to crowd out of any of the boys that are now working for Napoleon.

The Giants have two of the nicest looking young players in the country on their payroll now—Freddie Maguire and Waddy McPhee. Maguire is a picture of Eddie Collins in face and form. McPhee is a young former Princeton star and also an excellent prospect.

McGraw has always had the reputation of being willing to consider a few things from the ball players' point of view when it came to an argument between player and club.

The Giant boss proved this in a manner that probably was a terrible jolt to many club owners when he gave his opinion that Jack Bentley and other high priced ball players ought to get a part of the purchase price.

However, being as Mr. McGraw is always on the purchasing end of big moneyed deals, perhaps his view is not as magnanimous and as generous as it sounds.

Tris Speaker worked a little psychology effectively last year when he selected Guy Morton to pitch the opening game for the Cleveland Indians. Morton had nearly everything but confidence and that little stunt did more than anything else could to make him believe in himself.

The same stunt was worked by McGraw at the San Antonio training camp of the Giants. Jimmy O'Connell, a $75,000 rookie from San Antonio had just reported and he was a little shy and nervous.

"Just take your time, young fellow, and don't get excited. You are the centerfielder of this ball club," McGraw said.

CARPENTIER-SIKI BOUT SET FOR SEPTEMBER 18

Paris, March 17.—The French Boxing Federation announced that a fight between Georges Carpentier and "Batling" Siki has been definitely arranged for the afternoon of Sept. 16 in the Buffalo stadium here.

Francis DesCamps has acknowledged acceptance of the date in the name of Carpentier and Siki, who was informed by telegraph of the arrangements has sent his acceptance through his manager from Dublin.

WOOD HAS MANY ADVANTAGES

Reconstructed Material That Can Be Molded Instead of Usual Costly Process of Carving.

From shavings and sawdust, combined with suitable binders, there is now being made a reconstructed wood that is said to have many advantages. The process was originated by Prof. George Kemmerer, of the chemistry department of the University of Wisconsin.

consin, and the new material has been used commercially since last winter, and has been found to be better than wood for certain purposes.

The sawdust, after being mixed with a new binder material, is put into a mold, and subjected to a pressure of from 500 to 1,000 pounds per square inch. The resulting product is much tougher, and harder than ordinary wood, does not split, and is practically impervious to water. This reconstructed wood takes finishes, such as varnish and enamel, very well. Its chief use is in the manufacture of articles of irregular shape, such as toilet sets, radio dials, and variometer rotors. Instead of having to undergo the tedious and costly process of carving, as in the case of ordinary wood, the process pulp can be put into a suitable mold, placed under pressure, and when dry, the product is hard, grainless, and seamless.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

McTIGUE WINS FROM THE SENEGALESE

BATTLING SIKI OUTPOINTED IN
20 ROUND BATTLE ST. PAT-
RICK'S DAY

Dublin, March 19.—One of Ireland's first "home made" fighters stepped into a pugilistic throne room here when Mike McTigue won a twenty-round decision from Battling Siki, the Senegalese wild man, and became world's light heavyweight champion.

Land Mine Explosion
Two children were wounded by the explosion of a land mine in Moore Lane, outside of the Scala theatre, at the moment the fight got under way. All the doors and windows in the neighborhood were blown out.

Barriers had been erected by government officials in O'Connell street and around the theatre in anticipation of a demonstration by insurgents who had threatened action to prevent what they termed as a "desecration" of St. Patrick's day.

The only thing that happened to make it look like a fight occurred in the 11th round, when one of Siki's wild swings found its target and opened McTigue's right eye.

The Senegalese seemed to go back to the primitive stage with the sight of blood, and he tore into the Irishman furiously.

Siki Does the Leading

Siki did all the leading for 15 rounds, McTigue seeming to be content with staying away and relying on his superior boxing and speed about to tire out his opponent. In the fifth McTigue was warned for holding. McTigue apparently had been coached to let Siki wear himself out, as he was obviously not in the best of condition. McTigue swarmed around him, content to tap and keep him from getting set for one of his wild swings.

Siki's steam went out of him at the end of the 15th round. He was very weary and he had to be pushed out of his corner.

McTigue's seconds sent him out to fight in the 17th, and he swarmed all over Siki, punching him with all his strength for the first time, and trying for a knockout.

Three hard righthand swings to the jaw in the 18th rocked Siki to his heels and made him hang on.

He was in trouble and he had the greatest difficulty lasting out the round. McTigue was still fresh and he continued a furious attack in the 19th and 20th rounds. He punched Siki dizzy, and it was only an unexpected and unfigured ability to take punishment that enabled Siki to be on his feet when the last bell rang.

The crowd went into frenzied cheering even before the decision was announced. When the verdict of the referee, naming McTigue the winner, was announced, the roof was nearly rocked off the building with the volume of noise. All of McTigue's friends had bet on him, but few of them sincerely believed he had more than a fair chance to win. Siki's reign as the world's light heavyweight champion was short. He pulled one of the most sensational surprises in the feats in history on Sept. 24 when he knocked out Georges Carpentier in the sixth round in a bout scheduled to go 20 rounds in Paris. Siki was considered only a setup before that time.

From shavings and sawdust, combined with suitable binders, there is now being made a reconstructed wood that is said to have many advantages. The process was originated by Prof. George Kemmerer, of the chemistry department of the University of Wisconsin.

consin, and the new material has been used commercially since last winter, and has been found to be better than wood for certain purposes.

The sawdust, after being mixed with a new binder material, is put into a mold, and subjected to a pressure of from 500 to 1,000 pounds per square inch. The resulting product is much tougher and harder than ordinary wood, does not split, and is practically impervious to water. This reconstructed wood takes finishes, such as varnish and enamel, very well. Its chief use is in the manufacture of articles of irregular shape, such as toilet sets, radio dials, and variometer rotors. Instead of having to undergo the tedious and costly process of carving, as in the case of ordinary wood, the process pulp can be put into a suitable mold, placed under pressure, and when dry, the product is hard, grainless, and seamless.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

McTIGUE WINS FROM THE SENEGALESE

BATTILING SIKI OUTPOINTED IN
20 ROUND BATTLE ST. PAT-
RICK'S DAY

Dublin, March 19.—One of Ireland's first "home made" fighters stepped into a pugilistic throne room here when Mike McTigue won a twenty-round decision from Battling Siki, the Senegalese wild man, and became world's light heavyweight champion.

Land Mine Explosion

Two children were wounded by the explosion of a land mine in Moore Lane, outside of the Scala theatre, at the moment the fight got under way. All the doors and windows in the neighborhood were blown out.

Barriers had been erected by government officials in O'Connell street and around the theatre in anticipation of a demonstration by insurgents who had threatened action to prevent what they termed as a "desecration" of St. Patrick's day.

The only thing that happened to make it look like a fight occurred in the 11th round, when one of Siki's wild swings found its target and opened McTigue's right eye.

The Senegalese seemed to go back to the primitive stage with the sight of blood, and he tore into the Irishman furiously.

Siki Does the Leading

Siki did all the leading for 15 rounds, McTigue seeming to be content with staying away and relying on his superior boxing and speed about to tire out his opponent. In the fifth McTigue was warned for holding. McTigue apparently had been coached to let Siki wear himself out, as he was obviously not in the best of condition. McTigue swarmed around him, content to tap and keep him from getting set for one of his wild swings.

Siki's steam went out of him at the end of the 15th round. He was very weary and he had to be pushed out of his corner.

McTigue's seconds sent him out to fight in the 17th, and he swarmed all over Siki, punching him with all his strength for the first time, and trying for a knockout.

Three hard righthand swings to the jaw in the 18th rocked Siki to his heels and made him hang on.

He was in trouble and he had the greatest difficulty lasting out the round. McTigue was still fresh and he continued a furious attack in the 19th and 20th rounds. He punched Siki dizzy, and it was only an unsuspected and unfigured ability to take punishment that enabled Siki to be on his feet when the last bell rang.

The crowd went into frenzied cheering even before the decision was announced. When the verdict of the referee, naming McTigue the winner, was announced, the roof was nearly rocked off the building with the volume of noise. All of McTigue's friends had bet on him, but few of them sincerely believed he had more than a fair chance to win. Siki's reign as the world's light heavyweight champion was short. He pulled one of the most sensational surprises in the feats in history on Sept. 24 when he knocked out Georges Carpentier in the sixth round in a bout scheduled to go 20 rounds in Paris. Siki was considered only a setup before that time.
